

Interview with Senator Carl Marcellino. 10/4/01

Interviewed by Tom Kuehhas

Transcribed by Meghan Molloy 10/28/10

Clip created 03/29/13

Marcellino: Um, I was born in Brooklyn in a hospital called Bethany Deaconess which no longer exists, it was on Myrtle Avenue. And raised in Queens, we moved to St. Albans when I was a kid. My backyard neighbor was Roy Campanella and I used to play with his sons. Lena Horne had a house not too far away, and it was a fairly upscale community for the day.